True Inwardness of the Recent Great Check Forgeries.

The Stone, from Which the Check Was Printed, Found.

WHERE IS SPRAGUEP

The HERALD presents to its readers this morning the true inwardness of the recent great forgeries, and the thin veil of mystery with which detectives over seek to throw around their work is removed from one of the most successfully mismanaged cases in the prolific story it will be seen how, even in a great cause, the petty Jealousies of men thwart the very ends on which their ambitions are set, and involve in inextricable confusion things as plain as pike staffs. The narra-tive, woven of a dozen different strands, reachas many directions, covers the case which now, for the first time, is spread before the public as an entirety in the symmetry of perfect truth. Four or five gentlemen in town who are confident of having kent their own counsels so well as to dely detection will no doubt read this parrative with much interest, as it contains facts which they believed to be exclusive property. The theatrical tricks of mystery and aliusion are dispensed with, and the tale is told in a plain, matterof-fact way. Mr. "Jack" Cannon, who was discharged be Saturday morning by Judge Dully, who heard the tharges against the St. Louis bond lorgers, on the plea that there was no evidence to hold him, may thank have been very inconvenient for him to have stood examination of the subjects in connection with which he is here spoken of. A direct connection is shown below to have existed between this man Cannon and the men arrested for complicity in the $64,000 forgery. His affidavit against Sprague, whom Mr. Jayne has not yet produced, and the substance of which is related story, shows how intimate both men were. Mr. Columbini, who wrote to the fixealD a few days ago, did not in all probability know that the District Attorney had in his possession the stone from which was printed the blank check on which the $64,000 forgery was committed, or that a scrtain lawyer in town actually had the cancelled sheck for $150,000 from which the signatures were traced in his hands, and had examined it. These stems of interest will be as news to the "crooked men as to the public generally. To a proper underanding of the case in its new light it is neccessary to tell the story of the course from its inception with public. The police of New York knew that the forgery was to be committed weeks before it was committed, and yet the thieves were successful.

INCEPTION OF THE CRIME. During the month of November, 1876, District Attorney Phelps was informed that a heavy forgery was about to be committed on the checks of a great financial institution, either an insurance or a trust company. The same information was conveyed to Detective George W. Elder, who endeavored to in preventing the crime. The information being so indefinite, not naming any institution or trust company, nothing seemed possible to the police but to keep a sharp lookout. The crime was finally comnitted on the 2d of January, and discovered on the 15th of the same month. Notwithstanding the strong clews then known, the lead-log guity parties escaped detection until quite recently, and in the meantime the Union Trust Company, on whom the check was drawn, and the New York Life Insurance Company, whose sificers' names were forged to it, have been out of the money, to say nothing of the $10,000 spent in employing detectives. The cause of the failure of speedy delection was the rivalry and jealousy of the different section was the rivalry and jealousy of the different section was the rivalry and jealousy of the different sections of the property of the case by the various parties in interest. The Union Frust Company employed an eminent firm of lawyers, andustion to Prinkerton's detective agency, at great ierction was the rivairy and jealousy of the different ietectives employed to work up the case by the various parties in interest. The Union Trust Company employed an eminent firm of lawyers, in adultion to Pinkerton's detective segency, as great expense, whils the case for the people was put in the hands of Denective Sampson, of the Stock Exchange. Dozens of guttersuipe brokers were arrested and brought before Mr. Wheeler H. Peckham for examination, and but little information was guined, while the real culprits had ample time to learn all that was going on. About this time a man namod Henry A. Third, who had been employed as an agent by the New York Lite Insurance Company at Troy. N. Y., and who had been discharged for cause, went to the Union Trust Company and said that, for a consideration, he could prove that the check on which the $64,000 had been procured was a genuine one and had been issued by the connivance of one of the company's officers and a near relative of his. He is supposed to have taken this step in order to be revenged for his dismissal and also, being "up a tree" at the time, to procure a little coin. He succeeded in making a written agreement with the Union Trust Company, stipulating that for a certain percentage of the money recovered and an allowance for expenses he would produce the criminals. He then began to investigate the antecedents of an officer of the company, which were not as wholesome as might be, and circulate stories derogatory to his character. So much for Mr. Tidd, and now to the first whisper the outside world hoard of the forgery.

COMING TO A HEAD.

About the middle of November and at about the same time that toe District Attorney was informed of the coming crime, a Connecticat barber hamed L. A. Brown, who has for many years been operating as a rooked expert, and who has been arrested on various charges, applied to several downtown brokers as housest as himself for information of a broker incoming crime, a Connecticate barber hamed. A. Brown, who have the continued to t impression prevails that the messenger was H. E. Browne binsell.

Two hers on our regg.

While the Browns and Chadwick were making efforts to circulate the sixty-tour thousand dollar forged check other parties, unknown to them, were stempting the same thing, and these other parties show planuly the identity of the authors of the sixty-tour thousand dollar check on the Union Trust with the men who "made" the twenty-seven thousand dollar check on Winslow, Lanier & Co. One Edmunds, who was recently sent to haif for lorging a check, and a man named Columbin, who wiote a denial of certain lact stated in the Herallo a few days since, endeavored, while Chauwick and Brown were at the same work, to get a broker to buy a large amount of securities on a check issued by a great lineardal establishment. Columbini claimed to be acting for J. J. Cannen or "Jack" Cannon, into of St. Louis bond torgery lame. As stated above, the forgery was discovered two weeks after the gold had been secured, and Maxwell was arrested, also H. E. Browne and Chadwick, and held in heavy bail.

La Browse, the prime mover in the business, was also arrested later, but was released without as examination. The men who actually "put" the check having been caught, the detectives begat to hunt for the forgers. Each arency had its own theory and worked it up. The majority worked on the thour that he had a later that the property of the check having been caught, the detectives begat to hunt for the forgers in the insurance company was implicated. The credit of having mentioned the truly implicated private he had all along that Gesane and Spague were the measure. Edmonate both of the control of the middle of January deponent heard of the $64,000 lorgery, and knew it was the job Sprague wanted him to do.

JAYNE REGINS WORE.

These were the clews on which Javne commenced his work, and as they were sil provided for him, bit detective skill need not be piumed. From Thompson and Cannon Jayne also learned where Gessner and Sprague were located, each in different cutes near Chicago; also that they both frequently visited that city. Jayne finding that Thompson could be of immense use to him discarded Jack Cannon and others, through whom ne obtained the clews, and concluded a secret agreement with Thompson to aid him in catching Gessner and Sprague. In different conversations Jayne had with Cannon, Thompson and other parties, and to encourage them to make affidavitis, he repeatedly stated that he intended only to use their affidavits or obtain authority to arrest; that the fact of ineir having made the affidavits would not become known to their detriment in the "crooked" community; that they would at any rate be quite insufficient to convict, not that he intended to get from them (the forgers) as much of the proceeds of their work as was yet unspent. In consequence of this agreement between Thompson and Jayne there appeared in the Heratia early in April a personal addressed to "High Tower" and signed "T. T.," which was from Thompson to Jayne, telling toe latter to go to Chicago and moet the signer at the Sherman House. A tow days after the appearance of this advertisement Jayne suidenly disappeared from the St. Jaines Hotel, at which he had been stopping with his lamily, and some two weeks later, on his return, it was disclosed that he and Thompson, accompanied by a prominent hawyer, had been to Chicago for the purpose of arresting Sprague and Gessner, but from some cause had failed to do so. Jayne then gave out that he had abandoned the case. He had no authority whatever for the arrest of the parties, and merely undertook the job as a means of obtaining money by exacting a percentage of all he could force out of Concago state that $35,000 was found in the possession of one of the men and temporarily deposited in the sale of the Sherman House. What has become of the money or the man on whom it was found remains yet a secret. It is claimed that of the three men who have been arrested but two have be en delivered to the police authorities of this city. It is supposed by the shrewdest detectives in the city that the man Henderson Irequently spoken of in the papers as one of the arrested parties is really Sprague, and that he had the $36,000 on his person when arrested. Against him (sprague) the affidavits of Camon and Thompson are conclusive and Thompson and that he had not even a speaking acquantiance with Gessner. It is to be hoped that Jayne will be brought from his farm and put on the stand to testily in regard to his prisoners. There is no doubt that Gessner committed the forgery he is charged with as well as that of the sixty-four thousand dollar check, but as he never had any confidants but Sprague, through whom he transacted all his business, Sprague alone can testily against him.

A LITHOGRAPHIC STONE AND A BIG CHECK.

From this it seems conclusive that Sprague and Gessner originated and nutered the $64,000 check and that it was put in circulation by Chadwick and his associates. It is further claimed that the lithographic stone from which the check was printed is in the possession of the District Attorney, and was found among the effects of parties arrested for complicity in this crime. It is also claimed that a certain cancelled check for $150,000 of the New York Life Insurance Company on the Union Trust Company, in layor of the Chemical Bank, and which check has been in the possession of a lawyer in town for some time, was used by the forgers to with the check was obtained from the saie of the incurance company is the one problem yet to be solved in connection with these forgeries. The "buffina bloodlound," not having been told who it was who isoned the forgers the check to trace, has not yet been able to "disco

THE GUNSER MURDER.

The murder of John Gunser on May 14 has caused nearly as much speculation as did the Nathan tragedy, though the former was a poor saloon keeper. A sinilar mystery surrounded each case, and in both instances all suspicion was at first directed to a member of the family. In the Gunser case facts at last pointed toward Jacob Eisie, now incarcerated, as the murderer. But on the examination which has been held before Justice Marsuall at Newton, three witnesses swore positively that they slept in the same room with the accused on the night of the murder; that he retired at nine o'clock P. M. and did not leave the room until they entered it, and could not after they entered it. In the morning they were aroused by a cry that Gunser had been murdered, and then only did Eisie leave the room in order to go and look at the murdered main. On Saturday, therefore, in order to test the truth of this testimony, District Attorney Downing, accompanied by Constable Lauby, took each one of the three singly to the room and required that they show him the exact spot occupied by each during the might, and to demonstrate why he could not have left the room. Each minde a statement, and was positive as to the sweral positions occupied during that eventual night, in no one particular did their statements agree. They will be brought before the Justice on Tuesday, and an exciting session of the examination is expected. stances all suspicion was at first directed to

SERIOUS ACCIDENTS.

James Hopkins, a child one year old, while playing on a piazza, on the second story of No. 103 Hamilton avenue, Brooklyn, last evening, fell to the ground, suctance of twenty feet, and was severely injured. A child three years old, named Agnes Fahan, fell from the second story window of the residence of her parents, No. 213 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, on Satur-day night and fractured her skull. The physicians say her injuries will prove fatal.

A TRAMP'S LAST SLEEP.

An unknown man was found lying dead yesterday on a platform in front of No. 386 West Eleventh street. He was apparently about forty years of age and five feet eight inches in height. He was dressed in a dark cout, brown pants, white shirt, black soft hat and low cut since. The police recognized him as one of the genus tramp and more particularly specified him as a "beer titler." The death occurred from natural causes. THE POLAR EXPEDITION.

LETTER AND LOG FROM GEORGE E. TYSON,

CAPTAIN OF THE PLOBENCE. WASHINGTON, August 26, 1877. The following communication from Captain George E. Tyson, of the Florence, was received this morning by Captain H. W. Howgate, United States Army:—

Captain H. W. Howgare, United States Army, Washinton, D. C:—
Sir.—I have the honor to report the progress of the preliminary Polar Expedition.
Agoust 2, half-past ten A. M., we left New London, with the wind to the northeast. The progress made on the succeeding days and the facilities for saling will be shown by the following citation from the

It is intended to sail across the Gulf of St. Lawrence and through the Straits of Belle Isle, for thus we hope to save time and be rid of much bad weather.
Although it is now a week since we left port we have missed nothing essential from the equipment. The vessel meanwhile has behaved spleadidly and the crew bave shown themselves to be composed of good working material.

In the scientific department work has also advanced, though more slowly, since it has been thought inexpedient to place the instruments. A bird of a rare species has been obtained. All of us are hopeful of success. Very respectually.

GEORGE E. TYSON, off Cape Canso.

THE POLAR COLONY-CAPTAIN HOWGATE'S IN-STRUCTIONS TO CAPTAIN TYSON, COMMAND-ING THE SCHOONER PLORENCE, NOW ON HER

VOYAGE TO DISCO. WASHINGTON, July 19, 1877. Captain Grouge E. Tyson, commanding Preliminary Arctic Expedition of 1877, New London, Conn.;—
.Sir.—The command of the schooner Florence, of the Preliminary Arctic Expedition of 1877, is intrusted to you, and the officers and men forming the crew are en joined to render strict obedience to your orders. In the event of your death while on this expeditionan event which is to be devoutly hoped may not oc cur-the command will devolve upon the first mate, and should be also be disabled or die upon the second mate; and such survivor will carry out to the best of his ability the objects of the expedition, keeping a stout heart and committing himself and comrades to the care of Divine Providence.

THE OBJECT OF THE EXPEDITION The primary object of the expedition is the colle tion of material for the use of the future colony on the shores of Lady Franklin Bay. This material will consist of Esquimaux to the number of ten families-if that number can be obtained of young, strong healthy persons willing to be transferred to the location of the future colony—of dogs, not less than twenty-five in number, mostly females, and selected for their docility, training, strength and endurance; of sledges, two in number and completely and carefully fitted up for travel, and for three years. The clothing will be carefully s of choice fors and skins, and all made up by native women. The secondary object of the expedition is the collection of scientific data and specimens, as the field is a new one and possessing unusual interest.

WHALING EN VOYAGE The third and to the crew most interesting object is make a profitable return cargo, and this part of the work is so completely within your own province that I will not venture to give any instructions. I must caution you, however, to be on your guard against letting the pursuit of gain interfere in any manner with the successful issue of the two first named objects of the expedition. It is from them that the lasting resuits of the voyage will be obtained and the interests of science and commerce best subserved. The pre-cise locality of your winter quarters is left in a great measure to your judgment, but should probably be on the northern side of Cumberland Island. In making the selection, it the state of weather and condition of the ice leaves any choice, the locality should be that which is best adapted for the collection of supplies and which offers the best facilities for breaking away in the sum-ice leaves any choice, the locality should be that which is best adapted for the collection of supplies and which offers the best facilities for breaking away in the summer of 1878, in time to reach Disco by August 1, if possible, and certainly not later than August 6.

CARINO FOR THE NATIVES AND BOGS.

Provision must be made for the proper maintonance and care of the natives who are to become members of the future Polar colony; and also of the dogs, which are to form so important a part of the outlit of that colony. They must be quartered as combrishly as the limited accommodations of the schooler will permit, fed well and kept thoroughly clean.

This scientists.

The two scientific members of the expedition, while not forming, strictly speaking, a part of the crew, will, in case of necessity, be required to perform duty, and will at all times be audject to your orders and discipline. Every proper facility will be given them in the discharge of their respective duties and to and in securing full and variable results from their labors. Mr. Silerman will have charge of the meteorological instruments, observations and records, and of the photographic apparatus and work. In both of these duties it is my wish that you should aid him, cheerfully and constantly, and in the event of his sickness or mability, from any cause to attend to his observations, to make such arrangements as will insure a continuous series of the most important ones. The utmost caution must be excressed in handling the delicate instruments to guard against their breakage or other injury and the consequent interruption of the observations. The results of the photographic work will be very interesting to the general public as well as to the scientific student, and every opportunity should be taken to secure good negatives of places, localities and objects, and also of the different operations, connected with the pursuit and capture of whates, seals, &c. Mr. Kumlein, who goes as the representative of the Smithmonian Institution under the Instructi turn to study the study of your crew wish to accompany the colonization expedition you will grant them permission to do so, with the consent of the commander of that expedition, and provided you retain enough men to bring the Florence safely back to the United

A TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

Great care must be exercised in the use of spirituous liquors, both among the members of the expedition and in dealing with the natives. Useful as liquor undoubtedly is in its place, and under suitable restrictions, it is easily capable of the most frightful abuse and of leading this expedition to disaster as it has done others in the past. I trust in your strong good sense and past experience to guard against danger from this source, and desire you to know that I have only permitted a supply in quantity of liquors to form part of the Florence's outfit in deference to your own strongly expressed wishos.

DEALING WITH THE ABORIGINES.

In dealing with the natives, it is my wish, as doubtless it is your inclination, that you should be kind and literal to the extent of your means and ability, and in all points of difference, should any arise, to be just but firm. A TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

Bear constantly in mind the fact that this is not a whating voyage, but the first step in a work that will, I trust, when completed, be a noteworthy one in the annals of geographical and scientific discovery. This fact should also be carefully impressed upon the crew, in order that they may work intelligently and with proper interest.

in order that they may work intelligently and supproper interest.

Be careful of the health of your men, using such measures for the purpose as your long experience in Arctic waters suggest as necessary.

Commending yourself and crew to the care of an Allwise Power with the prayer that your voyage may be prosperous and your return a safe and happy one.

H. W. HOWGAFE, United States Army.

A MURDEROUS BEATING.

A BROOKLYN MANUFACTURER FOUND DYING IN HIS PACTORY-ABREST OF THE ASSAILANT.

Shortly after nine o'clock last night Mr. George Lightbody, aged fifty years, residing at No. 154 Washington street, Brooklyn, was found lying in the office of his ink factory, No. 129 Forman street, in a semiconscious condition, suffering from the effects of a terrible beating which he had received several hours previous. He was first discovered by one of his workmen named Martin Gennot. It appears, from what the police could learn of the affair that Mr. Lightbody got into an alterestion with a man named Edwin Longieilow, who was employed at times by Mr. Lightbody and who slept in the factory. The latter named, isiling to return to his home at the usual time, Mrs. Lightbody repaired to the factory, where she found her husband bleeding and almost speechless from a wound in the head. The police of the Second precinct station were at once notified of the occurrence, and Sergeant Meeks and Roundsman Saynor went to the place, and on questioning the injured man he said that he had been assuited and beaten by Longfellow, who, he said, made his escape after committing the assault. Mr. Lightbody was conveyed in an ambulance to the Long Island College Hospital, where, on examination, it was found that his sauli had been badly fractured. The case is pronounced critical. The police then went in search of Longfellow, whom they took into custody about midnight. The prisoner, who denies the charge of assault, was taken to the Hospital this morning for identification by the wounded man. He will be arraigned before Justice Waish to-day.

AN INTERESTING LOT.

HOW A GREENPOINT SOCIAL CLUB SPENT SUN-DAY-KNIVES, PISTOLS AND CLUBS-TWO MEN

The Manhattan Coterie of Greenpoint decided upon aving a Sunday excursion. Yesterday was selected he trip home a skirmish between several of the mempers and guests commenced, and it was not long be course down the river, the attempts at music being drowned by frantic yells and curses. Knives drawn and pistols freely used, but few injured. When the "social excursion" The confusion and noise were terrible. Girls screamed and men shouted and fought. Two police officers of the Twelith precinct of Brooklyn, named Ryan and Keiser, who were on board to preserve order, at-the Twelfth precinct of Brooklyn, named Ryan and Keiser, who were on board to preserve order, attempted to do so, but their efforts were of no avail. In a lew moments they were overpowered, knocked down and terribly beaten.

THE NEW YORK POLICE QUELL THE RIOT.

At 125th street the barge was boarded by Sergeant Sminck and a section of police of the Tuirtieth precinct, armed with night clubs. The scene as the police boarded was an exceedingly wild one. The officers, climbing over the sides of thelbarge, were met by some of the fighters, who attempted to drive thein back. But they persevered, and a foothold once gained, did some terrible execution with their clubs. After soveral minutes of severe lighting the mob was clubbed into comparative order. The police arrested and locked up eleven persons who were pointed out as the instigators of the attack upon the Brooklyn police. They also removed Frederick Hilberg, of Greenpoint, and Frederick Golding, of Hunter's Point, both of whom were shot in the head. Golding was sent to the hospital.

THE EXCITEMENT AT GREENPOINT.

When a HERALD resorter visited Greenpoint, about cleven o'clock last evening, little khouts of excited people were found on the street corners discussing the rumors that had been circulated during the evening, and it was said that a dozed persons had been more or less injured. At the station house in Greenpoint avenue was found a sergeant on duty who professed to know nothing beyond the fact that there had ocen a row, and that the same had been quelled by the New York police. He had no official knowledge of the facts, and did not even know of the existence of such a club as the Manhattan Coterie. A citizen present enlightened the reporter with the information that the club was an association of young roughs ranging in age all the way from fifteen to twenty years; that between them and a club of roughs named the Laberty Club a rivairy has existed for years, and that every year there is a bitter feeling between the factious as to the girs who accompany characterized by the most disgracolal orges and shooting and cutting affrays, in which their rivals participated.

The most intelligible report was made by a man who had the bar on the barge. His statement is that the rival factions got into a general fight, drew knives and pistols, and that the ringleader, who freely used a revolver, and another jumped overboard when the police charged over the slie; that the ringleader was rescued and captured, while the other, whose name he did not learn, was drowned. He jurther stated to ferry hands that when the fight was at its highest the captain of the tug threw off the line, and, running his tug into the pier at Manhattanville, secured a police lorce, and with it returned to the barge, when the riot was quelled. The barge arrived at her pier at Greenpoint and discharged her living freight about nine o'clock. Hilliberg was shot in the neck, the ball passing out near the temple. It is said that when his tather, who keeps a saloon in Green street, near Union avenue, heard of the wounding of his son, he announced that he would not go near him. As many of these statements are second hand they may not be in all particulars correct, but it is safe to say that in the main the facts are as given above.
